ROSCOE E. LANE, Treasurer.

During the year about 379 books have been added to our Library. About 210 of which were gifts from Mrs. Ella Woodward, the family of the late Maj. E. H. Catlin, Rev. Roy Thompson, Rev. Christian Groezinger, Mrs. Esther Chaffee, Nettie Boyd, Maud Huse, Clifton Miner, and Barbara Adams.

The very generous supply of magazines were contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Woodward. These magazines are much used, not only in general circulation but in reference for suggestion for home improvement and for students in their home economics courses.

All gifts are very much appreciated, also the interest in Library maintenance and courtesy shown there.

We feel that the influence of the Public Library was never more felt and needed than during these depressing conditions.

ALMA C. ACKERMAN, Librarian.

School District Report.

Superintendent's Report.

To the School Board of Hill:

At a time when retrenchment of expenses and economy in all departments of towns are being discussed, I urge the Board and all citizens interested to again read the discussion of school administration in Hill, found in the superintendent's report in the 1929 town report. It gives an explanation of any increase in school costs for ten years and shows that the Board has practiced economy without sacrificing efficiency wherever they had control.

The increased number of those attending high school was beyond their control; yet, tuition and transportation are the two items largely responsible for any increase in school costs since 1923. General expenses have remained substantially constant.

For the past ten years the average annual assessment of the town for school purposes has been $5,012.42. The smallest being 1929-30 and 1930-31, $3,767.59 and $3,400.00 respectively; the largest in 1928-29 when it was $6,300. The low assessments were due to receiving in those years, accumulated balances due from the town to the School District, which had previously been allowed to remain in the town treasury.

The average annual cost of transportation and tuition for ten years has been $1,970.45; the lowest $726.84 in 1922-23 and the highest $2,967.45 in 1926-27 when 25 pupils' tuition was being paid for, 19 of these in high school.

The average teacher cost for ten years has been $2,067. The lowest was in 1925, being $1,728. The highest $2,242. in 1924, except in 1928-29 when a third teacher was employed on account of a large number of pupils coming in from Sanbornton, the cost was $2,611. At the present time it is $2,088.

The school costs in Hill are not unreasonable, in fact, rather conservative. I fail to see where any large savings can be made in the school assessment and maintain present efficiency. That the schools are efficient is proven by the large number of pupils going from Hill and successfully completing a high school course.
